THERE'll be no Christmas clemency for Arkansas' prisoners this year. Governor Futrell says he sees no reason for the custom anyway. Sentimentalists who think this sounds too hard-boiled should give a thought to the California lynching.

Six Sewing Units Start Operations in Hempstead CWA

Ten Women Hired for Each, 30 Cents Hour, 40-Hour Week

PRODUCTION BEGUN

Finished Articles to Be Turned Over to Relief Organization

Six sewing units in Hempstead county started operations Thursday, giving unemployed and needy women work under the Civil Works Administration, Mrs. Harry Shiver, director, announced.

Ten women were hired at each unit, receiving 30 cents per hour for a 40-hour week. The federal government is furnishing all material except the sewing machines. Finished projects from the sewing rooms will be turned over to relief organizations.

Location and supervisor of each unit:

Hope—Mrs. J. L. Jamison, supervisor. The sewing room is housed in the old Garland school building.

Columbus—Mrs. C. R. White, Washington—Mrs. J. W. Butler, Patmos—Mrs. Ollie Welch, Fulton—Mrs. Ed Wilson, Blooms—Mrs. Carl Brown.

Sewing units at Spring Hill and Bingen were expected to start Friday, Mrs. Shiver said. Others will start over the county next week. Operation of canning units for the county will begin later.

The county's quota for the women's service division is 259.

Women registered on relief rolls are being employed first. Women who have a large number of dependents and no income are the second choice, and third are those with less dependents and no income.

Football Game to Be Played Sunday

Rain Causes Friday's Benefit Contest to Be Postponed

The All-Star-High School benefit football game, scheduled for Friday night, was postponed until Sunday afternoon as rain threatened to cut down attendance and cause a slippery field for the players.

The opening kickoff is set for 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon on Hope High School athletic field.

Proceeds from the game will help purchase sweaters for members of the 1933 high school squad.

The lineup:

High School	All-Stars
Madison	Left end
Drake	Left tackle
Richards	Left guard
Chamberlain	Center
Mitchell	Right guard
Houston	Right tackle
Anderson	Pod Porterfield
Harper	Right end
Turner	Quarterback
Cargile	Right half
Spears	Left half

Greece Formally Orders Insult Out

American Must Make His Departure by January 1

ATHENS, Greece.—(AP)—Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities czar, must leave Greece by January 1, it was said on behalf of the government Thursday night.

The Greek premier, Panagiotis Tsaldaris, said it has been decided not to renew Insull's police permit for residence in the country on its expiration December 31.

The Greek courts twice have turned down a request of the United States for Insull's extradition. Thursday Insull formally applied to the Athens Department of the Greek government for extension of his permit.

The premier said the government had refused the request. He said the method by which he may leave Greece had not been decided upon, but said he was asking Insull to leave the country by the first of the year.

Three of Victims Critically Injured Friday Morning

TEXARKANA.—(AP)—Jack Powell, was killed and 12 others were injured, 3 seriously, Friday when a Texas & Pacific freight train on which they were riding from Texarkana to Marshall to attend a football game was derailed near Jefferson, Texas.

The seriously injured were: Jack Bane, 16, Texarkana college student, John Clark, 19, Jimmy Mills, 20.

The game between Texarkana college and Marshall college was scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Daylight Robbers Hold Up 2 Banks

Stylish Blonde Leads Bandits at Midland, Ark., Friday

FORT SMITH, Ark.—(AP)—The People's Loan & Investment Co., office in the downtown section was robbed of $500 in cash by two men who entered the place and cut the wires Friday morning.

The bandits ordered an employee to get smelling salts for a woman employee who became too frightened to obey their command to walk back to the rear of the room.

Bank Is Robbed

MIDLAND, Ark.—(AP)—A stylishly dressed blonde and two men, one about 65, held up and robbed the Midland State Bank of $500 Friday morning.

Officers believed the men were father and son, and said the woman apparently was the leader of the trio.

Lindberghs Land in Santo Domingo

Complete Jump From Puerto Rico—Miami, Fla., Is Next

SAN PEDRO, Dominican Republic.—(AP)—The Lindberghs landed here Friday for the night.

"They took off Friday morning from the harbor at San Juan, Puerto Rico, and made the flight to the Dominican Republic without untoward event—completing another lap in their four-continent flight which will end when they again touch their native shore at Miami, Fla."

Their big hydro-monoplane carried 25 gallons of fuel leaving Puerto Rico, sufficient, had they desired, to carry them clear to Miami.

At this time it seemed to me that I had started to climb an insurmountable mountain, in undertaking the study of medicine. If I could laugh now, I suppose I would, were I to read that book with the simple terms so carefully explained in a cramped handwriting.

How could I study to be a doctor if I didn't have a regular desk? I asked my parents. The answer was a beautiful roll-top desk in my room. No sooner was there a desk in my room than Earle's room also displayed one.

The days passed on as we slowly acquired the background necessary for the study of the various aches and pains and their causes.

Christmas Fulough Idea 'Out' Declares Arkansas' Governor

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—No Christmas furloughs will be given state prison convicts this year, Governor Futrell said Friday, announcing he would break a long-established custom.

Some pardons in the past made up the governor's Christmas clemency list, but Governor Futrell said Friday he saw no reason for that practice.

66 Freed in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(AP)—Beating Santa Claus to the Southland, Gov. Miller of Alabama Friday handed out more than 60 furloughs to state convicts for the Christmas holidays.

Optimism Is Urged by Rev. E. C. Rule

Methodist Pastor Tells Rotarians of Definition of a Pessimist

"I am oppressed sometimes by the apparent contradiction between the spirit of some of our people and the name of our city," the Rev. E. C. Rule, new pastor of First Methodist church, told the Rotary club Friday noon at Hotel Barlow.

Speaking on the spirit of hope—not the name of our city—the Rev. Mr. Rule declared it was one of the most potent forces in human life. It is advisable, he said, for every person not only to actually possess it but radiate it among his fellow beings.

"I am reminded of the new definition of a pessimist," said the speaker. "A pessimist has been likened unto a man who has swallowed a whole egg and now is afraid to move for fear of breaking it, and afraid to sit still for fear it will hatch."

Urging people to take hold of the optimistic developments in recent months and look with greater confidence to the future, the Rev. Mr. Rule said it is only plain business sense to advertise one's self as an optimist.

"When I am in a trading frame of mind," he declared, "if I met a business man who talked as gloomily as some people talk I should certainly feel like putting my money back in my pocket."

There were two other club guests, Roy E. Chase, tax accountant of Little Rock, and J. Warren Conway, also of Little Rock, field representative of the Federal Home Loan Bank.

Extension Service Men in Texarkana

Four-State Meeting Being Held Friday and Saturday

TEXARKANA.—A conference of agricultural extension service officials of Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma opens here Friday and continues through Saturday for a general discussion of government agricultural policies.

The meeting was postponed from Thursday. George N. Peek and Cully A. Cobb of the agricultural adjustment administration in Washington had been expected to attend, but changed their plans.

Churches to Hold Xmas Programs in This City Sunday

White Service at First Methodist 7:30 Sunday Night

BAPTIST, AFTERNOON

"The Messiah" to Be Given at 3 in the Afternoon

Hope's churches for the most part will observe Christmas with special programs this Sunday, December 17.

Hope First Baptist will hear the oratorio "The Messiah" at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, while First Methodist church will hold its White Christmas program at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night. The programs follow:

First Methodist

The church school and choir of First Methodist church will offer their annual "White Christmas" service at the church Sunday night December 17, at 7:30 o'clock. At this service, observed in the local church for several years, the church and the church school offer gifts of substance and service. This year the presentation is set against the background of a beautiful program of pageantry and song.

The program follows:

Hymn, "Joy to the World," by the choir.

Prayer.

The Annunciation of the Coming.

Carol, "Again The Strains," by the choir.

Scripture Reading: Anthem, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," by the choir.

The Legend of Cathay.

Carol, "The Little Christ Is Coming," by the choir.

Reading, "The Story of Yesterday and Today."

Presentation of Gifts, with pageant and song. The cradle roll, beginners, primaries, juniors, intermediate-seniors, young people, and adults participating.

After prayer of consecration and benediction by the pastor, the choir will sing softly, "Silent Night" while the congregation quietly leaves.

Those taking part in the program for the evening are: beginner and cradle roll, Sophia Williams, Barbara LaGrone, Eva Jean Neilam, Sue Jane Cofield, Pollyanna Williams, Jo Ann Card, Matilda McFadden, Mary Katherine Betts, primary, Frederick Patten, Glenn Williams, Jr., Merle Edward McCloughan, George Ware, Jr., H. Congress Is Coming

That Washington is busily preparing for the convening of the 73rd Congress on January 3 is indicated in the signs of activity here recorded by the cameraman in his rounds of the capital. Above (at left) you see Speaker of the House Henry T. Rainey making plans for the big day. Preparing for a colorful ceremony on the opening day is Kenneth Romney, House Sergeant at Arms, pictured upper right with mace.

When notified by local CWA officials Friday that orders were received from state headquarters at Little Rock, installing a new system by which haulers would be paid by the gravel-yard instead of as at present, several withdrew their trucks, believing the new regulations would lower their weekly income.

The new price-fixing system would still give the gravel-hauler $3.20 per day for the driver, 10 cents per mile for the first mile and five cents per mile for each additional mile. The operator would have to furnish his own gasoline and oil.

Officials believe the new regulations would speed up operations, and reduce expense somewhat by the abolition of dilapidated gravel trucks which under the old system would receive as much compensation for one trip as the driver of a well-equipped truck making 10 runs daily.

The new set-up would give the deserv-ing man more money for his work and the less-deserving man a smaller amount.

Three other road projects were shut down Friday. They were due to work limitation hours, where laborers had reached the 40-hour work week limit, and not to objections of any disgruntled laborers.

Work operations on all other CWA projects in the county were functioning smoothly with near the full quota of 71 men employed.

No more than the normal amount of protest was being passed back and forth among the unemployed, which officials termed inevitable, due to having to hire only 71 men when nearly 5,000 have registered for work.

Must Fill Quota

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The Civil Works Administration was surveying the employment situation in all counties Friday to determine how many persons had been put to work on CWA projects in each county so that unfilled quotas at noon Friday could be transferred to other counties.

A total of 58,005 persons were reported assigned in the state Thursday night.

Noon Friday was the deadline for counties to have all of their employment quotas assigned to work.

4 Million on Payroll

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The Civil Works Administration said Friday that more than 4 million are now on the payroll.

This was the goal set by President Roosevelt in authorizing upward of 400 million dollars for direct employment of persons heretofore on the relief list.

Cuba Will Seize Foreign Holdings

Plans to Distribute 600,000 Acres to Small Native Farmers

HAVANA, Cuba.—(AP)—Revision of the rights of foreign landowners in Cuba is contemplated by the government, it was revealed Thursday night by Secretary of the Interior Antonio Gutierrez, in connection with a new scheme of land distribution.

Gutierrez estimated that the government can appropriate more than 600,000 acres of land from foreign countries who he said do not have clear titles to the property.

Work operations on the Ozan-Bingen road project, a Civil Works Administration measure, were temporarily halted Friday when a dozen gravel-haulers objected to a new system of payment.

The original system by which gravel-haulers were paid was $3 per day for the truck, $3.20 per day for the driver, and free gasoline and oil to operate.

Securities Act Looks Sure to Weather

Third Degree . . . "Scared Money" Leaves U. S.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—The best bet is that the securities act will survive Congress intact.

Persistent broadsides from Wall Street have led Roosevelt to consider a revision. Far from convinced that a change is desirable, he seeks light on assertions that the law's strictness holds up desirable financing.

The fact that some New York banks have been sabotaging the act by discussing it in connection with the president that the present statute should be given a chance, some of his advisers think.

He has been shown how one bank brought all kinds of pressure to prevent registration of an excellent security issue.

Opposition strategy is to hold up the best security issues until the law is changed to limit damages to compensation for losses, which can be proved as due to misrepresentation.
That change sounds reasonable.

But such proof often is impracticable, especially for small investors. The act now assumes liability for loss in any case of misrepresentation.

Investment bankers don't want their field for profits limited and believe they should run the government rather than vice versa.

Even if Roosevelt should okay a change, Congress, impressed by the Wiggins and other disclosures, would be likely to balk.

"Alphabet Soup" Thickens

The White House, let alone the rest of us, can't keep track of all these new federal agencies. Announcing members of the new National Emergency Council it ended the list with "a representative of the Consumers' Council."

There isn't any such thing here, though there's an NRA Consumers' Advisory Board and an AAA Consumers' Council. White House inquiry revealed confusion as to which, if either, was meant. Later it turned out to be the C. A. B.

"I've kept trying to make Frank Walker and Colonel Howe learn the name of our outfit," complained the C. A. B. chairman, Mrs. Mary Rumsey.

Booze Prices to Drop

Federal liquor controllers admit early prices of bottled goods are bound to encourage bootleggers. They promise reductions.

One of the best known distillers told them he could sell good tax-paid whisky for $12 a case.

Urges "Third Degree" Ban

Attorney General Homer Cummings is personally behind the Department of Justice effort for a national law designed to abolish the police "third degree." He abhors the practice.

Cummings, as a state's attorney in Connecticut years ago, created a national sensation by asserting that it was as important for a prosecutor to protect the innocent as to convict the guilty.

Scheduled to prosecute a man named Israel on a charge of murdering a Bridgeport priest, he became convinced that Israel's confession—obtained by third degree—was valueless.
Thereupon, to everybody's astonishment, he asked and obtained Israel's discharge.

Just "Scared Money"

Some of the administration follows who have to do with the monetary policy evolved a quaint method of laughing off the flight of hundreds of millions of American capital abroad.

"That's only 'scared money,' anyway," they say and wouldn't have been put to any useful purpose if kept at home.

Code for Scavengers

The "rinders, ashes, and scavenger industry" soon will be under a code.
Its members cut off all the unsavingable refuse not carted off by health departments.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

©1933 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

In the moving picture "Little Women," the four March girls carry their Christmas breakfast, in hot covered dishes, to the poor family nearby.

Civil war-time appetites, young healthy appetites, winter appetites all set for the treat of seldom-seen sausage and pop-overs, yet they gave away the precious food. Your heart broke for them. But when you saw the ghastly, pinched children, the moth-eaten, frozen, pinched children, the moth-eaten, frozen, pinched children, your heart ceased its aching and chanted a carol.

Their mother suggested it. She knew what a sacrifice she was asking. And yet in the joy of helping needy neighbors, the girls found a compensation that more than made up for a mere lost meal.

A View of Charity

There is a profound lesson in this episode. I wonder how many people who saw it refused to catch the spirit of it, called it old-fashioned and out-of-date and sneered a bit. Very few, I hope. And yet there were some I know who surveyed it with contemptuous reservation.

"We don't have 'charity' any more," they were saying in all probability. "People hate charity. It bruises their pride. And all it's good for is to create a spirit of magnificence in the giver. Those girls are thinking, 'How grand we are to give up what we want most! See! We are saving human lives.' They're getting a real and personal kick doing something the state or city should be doing in a less degrading way. All private charity is out of date, thank Heaven, and organized welfare is the word. I shouldn't think of insulting any poor person I know by a private contribution. I've signed a card for so much and—so on—"

To which I reply from the pulpit. "Phooey! Applesauce! And boloney!"

Organized Welfare

Organized welfare is without doubt an humane and indispensable institution. It is keeping millions from starving, clothes on little backs, and coal in the stove. In a dozen ways we are reaching the poor and giving until we think we haven't a nickel left.

But there are hundreds of corners that organized welfare cannot reach where families caught in the emergency of sickness or death find the al-lombance too small to cover demands.

This is where personal interest and "charity" step in, to call it by its old name. We must not go economic with such a vengeance that we turn callous, or blind, or worse still, indifferent to immediate distress near us.

Christmas! What on earth can a selfish Christmas mean to any man, woman or child now or ever?

There is plenty to be done in the name of Christ as well as in the name of organized welfare. It is up to us to see that at least one child outside of the family has a Christmas. How about bruised hearts and sick souls and bodies? Which counts most?

THE UNKNOWN BLOND

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAVID BANNISTER undertakes to find out who killed
TRACY KING, orchestra leader.
In his hotel apartment, Bannister is an author and former newspaper editor. He works on the murder case with GAINEX, state reporter on the Post.

Among those suspected are JULIET FRANCE, blond and pretty and known to have visited King shortly before his death;
HELMAN SCURLOCK, who wrote King a threatening letter; and JOE PARROT, down-and-out vandal who saw Juliet France with King. He also knows that MELVINA HOLLESTER, middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with King recently.

AL DRUGAN, friend of King's, is found dead in a wrecked automobile.

Bannister persuades the police chief to let Juliet come to his apartment. He is also known that she believes herself free they can begin more about her.

Parrot is located in St. Louis and a detective is sent to bring him back. Bannister, walking home one evening, sees Juliet France just ahead of him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII

THE girl did not see Bannister.
She was walking rapidly, her hands in her pockets. In the dim light from the street lamp, he caught a glimpse of the green suit, knew at once that it was Juliet France.

But where had she been and what had she been doing? Bannister cursed at Jordan, the "house man" who was supposed to be keeping a constant watch over the girl. Then he saw the mail box.
It stood on the corner, not a dozen feet from where she had been when he first noticed her. So that was the explanation!

Bannister quickened his step and caught up with her. "Aren't you afraid of getting lost?" he asked.

She turned. Was it fright or confusion that brought the girl's hand to her throat? Then suddenly she smiled. "Oh, it's you! I —I didn't recognize you."

They walked along together. "It's dark," Bannister objected, "and you're a long way from the house.
Aren't you afraid to be out alone?"

Juliet France shook her head.
"No," she said. "What is there to be afraid of?"

"Nothing," he hoped.

She looked up at him and her eyes were not smiling now. They studied his face searchingly. After an instant she said, "I just wanted a little walk. I didn't think there could be any harm in that. I've been in the house all day—"

Her tone was so repentant that Bannister smiled. "Perhaps there isn't," he said. "Only after this I think it would be better to take your walks while the sun is shining. Tell me, what have you been doing all day?"

She gave him a resume of hours spent at reading, at household tasks and resting.

"Your aunt let me help make the chocolate cake you're going to have for dinner tonight," she told him proudly.

"Aunt Kate knows how to cook all right," Bannister admitted.
"Oh, indeed she does! And beside that, she's a darling!"

They had reached the house now and Bannister pushed open the door. The warm air and subdued lighting was delightful after the cold and dark.

THERE was no time to talk to Jordan until after dinner. Then Bannister found the policeman in the basement, putting a shovel of

TEXAS OPENS WAR
UPON HITCH-HIKERS

Transients to Be Rounded Up After First of the Year

AUSTIN, Texas.—(P)—Hitch-hiking will become a thing of the past after the first of the year.

Marshall B. Thompson, transient director from the Texas emergency relief administration said Thursday plans had been formulated whereby all transients seeking free transportation would be taken from the railroads and highways and placed in transient concentration camps.

Thompson issued large placards to be hung in places frequented by transients warning them of the new policy and to "get where they are going by the first of the year."

Thompson estimated there were between 25,000 and 35,000 transients in Texas. Of this number, approximately 75 per cent are residents of other states, many of whom signified an intention of returning home. Three-fourths of them are under 30 years old, he said.

Railroad police are preparing to "strip" trains of persons "riding the red," and the "blinds" after January 1 and turn the transients over to the federal relief authorities. Thompson said. Every effort will be made to insure a peaceful enforcement of the procedure.

About-Face After Repeal Is Adopted

Administration, Pushing

By BYRON PRICE

Caution is the distinctive note of the administration's approach to its new task of liquor regulation. Everything that is done is of tentative character. Heading decisions or experiments are discouraged from higher up.

Very definitely, the breaks were applied to the repeal bandwagon the moment it passes over the crest of the hill.

Now it is the wet organization rather than the dry which complains of administration policy.

The problem seems certain to figure in politics for a long time to come, and the administration will take pains not to associate itself exclusively with one side or the other for the present.

Under the surface, forces are at work to eradicate, on both sides, that extreme bitterness which was so common during the prohibition era.

Many leading churchmen who battled for prohibition have indicated to the White House they are willing to meet the administration half way.

It was not announced, but the Federal Council of Churches moved its December meeting from New York to Washington especially to make the president's attendance possible.

A Central Bank?

Talk of a central United States bank recently has been revived.

Such an institution, owned entirely by the government, would take over the preferred bank stock and other collateral held by the RFC, handle the gold-buying campaign and discharge many other functions, such as central government banks in foreign countries now perform.

Some important business men would not be surprised if legislation for such a bank were included in Mr. Roose-

Are you going home for Christmas? Have you written your letter? Going home to kiss the mother and to show her that you care? Going home to greet the father in a way to make him glad? If you're not I hope there'll never come a time you'll wish you had. Just sit down and write a letter—it will make your heart strings hum with a tune of perfect gladness—if you'll tell them that you'll come.

E. A. G.

White Christmas will be observed at the First Methodist church at 7:30 Sunday evening. Special Christmas music will be furnished by the choir.

Frank Lowthorp, a student in the College of the Ozarks will arrive Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lowthorp.

Mrs. Lloyd Spencer, Mrs. W. T. Gorman and Mrs. J. Frank Gorin were Friday visitors in Little Rock.

Misses Hattie Anne Feild, Elizabeth Bernier and Eleanor Foster, will motor to Malvern Friday to attend the At Home Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. D. Glover, given as special compliment to Mrs. William Glover, a bride of last week. The trio will spend the week-end in Little Rock, where Misses Elizabeth Bernier and Eleanor Foster will be guests of Miss Thelma Griffith and Miss Feild will visit Miss Helen Purifoy.

Mrs. J. F. Gorin was hostess on Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Wednesday Contract Bridge Club at her home on West Avenue C. Table prizes were won by Mrs. G. Frank Miles and Mrs. T. S. McDavitt.

During the winter months, the library will close promptly at five o'clock on the regular library days, Tuesday and Friday afternoons. If you are in doubt about selecting a Christmas present, why not give a membership in the library?

Miss Margaret Kinser will spend the week-end with Misses Manette and Doris Glenn in Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Franklin and little son, Bobby, left Friday for a holiday visit with relatives and friends in Gallatin, Tenn.

Miss Mattie Evans entertained the members of the Sub-Dub Club at a theater party Wednesday evening.

The Young Women's Circle of the W. M. S. of the First Methodist church held their study class from 3:30 to 7 o'clock Thursday evening in the ladies parlors of the church, with a splendid attendance. The program included a review of the book, "Eastern Women Today and Tomorrow," with

Republicans Not Anxious to Attack

Their Snipers Are Busy—But Party Recognizes Roosevelt Strength

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Associated Press Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Some political observers believe that republicans will be slow to launch a concerted party attack on the President's monetary, NRA and farm policies in the coming session of congress.

There will be individual sharp shooting, just as at present. Senator Dickinson of Iowa and Senator Hatfield of West Virginia, as well as some of the others, may be expected to continue their criticism.

One republican senator, for example, recognized generally as being one of the shrewdest of politicians, is said to have put his foot down on suggestions of a solid party attack beginning at the very start of the session.

A republican leader of the house declared that he doubted the wisdom of open warfare. It is his belief, he said, that the best policy for his party is that of passive resistance rather than outspoken criticism.

The Lay Off of the Land

"We should be able to tell before very long how the land lies," he said. "Until then, I for one, am not in favor of sounding off too much."

Two recent congressional elections have had their effect on the attitude of many republicans. In Pennsylvania last month, in line with the advice of former Senator Grundy, the republicans didn't even oppose the democratic nominee.

In the third congressional district of West Virginia, normally republican, the democratic nominee defeated former Governor Gore for a seat in the house by more than 5,000 votes.

The victor stood squarely behind the administration's policies. Gore, in his campaign, contended the NRA and farm programs were not working satisfactorily.

The democrats hailed the victory as a clear indication of the administration's strength.

There is a strong sentiment for inflation evident among those members of congress who have returned to Washington prior to the session. There are signs many of them are willing to go along with the President on his monetary policy for a while if business shows improvement.

Other reported moves by the administration to improve the monetary situation, principally the persistent rumormongering that something will be done to re-monetize silver, have had their effect.

THE PRIVATE LIFE

Shaking so that we scarcely could walk, we went to father's room, where he didn't even recognize at. At 6 a. m. the doctor called in was leaving the house, as he could do nothing more.

So dawned a new day in our home. Responsibility is heavy.

The responsibilities that previously had been shared now rested heavily upon mother's shoulders. Problems came thick and fast. The oil heater wouldn't work, the plumbing gave out and had to be replaced; not much later the tile roof had to be replaced.

Mother was quiet and uncomplaining throughout, although, she had numerous new duties, many of which she was wholly unaccustomed. As usual, mother managed like a major.

In the midst of a saddened household, romance was lurking.

It had its beginning in December, 1929, when Earle drove mother and me to Indianapolis to attend a musical party being given by the Nu Sima Phi medical sorority, to which we belonged.

There played the violin at the party. Her cute way of playing, together with her bright red hair, her pretty, animated face, and her petite form instantly captivated my brother.

"Find out who she is," he begged mother. "I want to meet her."

Mother Aids Cupid

Mother, always Cupid's great co-operator, found out. Also she found out someone who would introduce him.

That was the last we saw of Earle that evening. But next morning, on the drive back to Chicago, he told us that he had escorted this home and extracted from her a promise to answer his letters.

For the next two and a half years.

we—Mother, Mary and I—had a lot of fun, keeping abreast with their romance. At times, the postman seemed unusually slow—to Earle. But when, at last, he arrived, bringing the anticipated letter from Indianapolis, Mary or I would ask:

"How does she end it, Earle?" However, he never deigned to satisfy our curiosity. He was madly in love with the charming young violinist and her letters to him were strictly private.

"Threat" From Rheta

One August morning in 1929 he became more confidential. We were having breakfast when the postman brought a letter from Rheta. And mother, noting the words "lines that appeared on Earle's forehead as he finished reading it, inquired:

"What's the matter, Earle?" "Is she giving you the gate?" Mary piped up.

We laughed at that, for it was well known in the family that the way to Rheta's heart was over no boulevard. She was a pretty, talented girl and, as such, had plenty of admirers.

"She says," Earle said, "that if I don't get to Indianapolis the next time I write I'm coming, I—I needn't ever come."

Earle Presses Suit

Mother nodded, full of sympathy. Well she knew that the reason Earle had failed to keep some of his long distance "dates" with Rheta was because of her own business affairs. He was acting as her agent in settling dad's affairs.

"You better go down and see Rheta. Otherwise, you may lose out with her."

So, shortly after dawn the following morning, he set off in his car for Indianapolis. A couple of days later, he long-distance telephoned mother.

"Can I bring Rheta home with me tomorrow?" he asked.

"Certainly," mother answered, surprised that he should make such a request, for she always had encouraged us to bring home our friends. Then she added: "You can, that is, if her parents consent."

Get Consent to Wed

Next morning they arrived, and the first thing they told us was that they were going to be married. But their glowing faces, as they stepped out of Earle's car, had revealed that fact.

Earle wanted to be married at once. And Rheta, to whom life at home had not been the same since her mother's death, was enthusiastically acquiescent.

But mother demurred. She insisted that the lovers talk it over first with Rheta's father and stepmother.

Burdine H. Gardner, Rheta's father, when reached over the telephone, readily consented to their marriage and said he and his wife would start for Chicago at once. So the wedding was set for the following day.

NEXT: Days of shadow come. Mary Louise follows adopted father to grave. Tragedies pile up. Family hit by financial troubles. A Century of Progress. Earle and Rheta's married life—and Rheta's death.

To Expand Capitol Plant

"LITTLE ROCK. — (AP) — The State Capitol Arts Commission Friday named its chairman, George W. Donaghey, as head of a committee to apply for federal aid to acquire property adjacent to the capitol grounds.

Estimates were that the cost of acquiring several blocks of ground, much of which is improved residential property, would be from one to one and a half million dollars. It is proposed to apply to either the Public Works or Civil Works Administrations for the money with which to condemn and pay for all the property within an area six blocks west and north of the buildings, and to lay out this section in modern parkways, boulevards, and to erect monuments.

Trial of Crowley to Open January 3

Jonesboro Pastor Will Be Tried at Piggott on Murder Charge

PIGGOTT, Ark. — (AP) — The first degree murder trial of the Rev. Dale S. Crowley, fiery Baptist minister of Jonesboro, is scheduled to open in circuit court here on January 3.

The case was sent here on a change of venue from Craighead county because of the feeling aroused in Jonesboro by the church controversy which was climaxed by the slaying of J. W. MacMurdo, church janitor, by Crowley.

Crowley is now free under $10,000 bond and continues to conduct services in a mission at Jonesboro.

The Jonesboro Baptist Tabernacle, scene of the bitter dispute between the two factions of the congregation, and of the slaying of MacMurdo, is closed and in the hands of receivers.

Crowley will seek acquittal on a self-defense plea while the state, represented by Prosecuting Attorney Denver Dudley, will seek to prove that the tabernacle janitor, of the anti-Crowley faction, was slain in "cold blood" when Crowley went to take charge of the tabernacle under a court order recognizing him as the legal pastor, and ordered MacMurdo to leave.

The church dispute resulted from an attempt by the Rev. Joe Jeffers, assistant evangelist and founder of the tabernacle, to oust Crowley as pastor, a difference over religious matters.

The congregation split into two factions. Flat fights and other disturbances precipitated a state of turmoil in Jonesboro for several weeks, culminating in the slaying.

DON'T FORGET TO BUY SOME MISTLETOE! BUT WE'LL HAVE TO KEEP IT IN A BOX—DON'T GO HANGIN' TH' STUFF UP!—HALF TH' TIME WE'D BE STANDIN' UNDER A SPRIG, WITHOUT KNOWIN' IT!

THE CHRISTMAS TREE BARON

OUT OUR WAY

YOU'VE BEEN ARGUING FOR FIVE MINUTES ABOUT WHOSE MOVE IT IS! I'LL SETTLE IT FOR YOU! YOU CAN BOTH MOVE—RIGHT AWAY FROM THAT CHECKERBOARD, AND DO AS I TOLD YOU TO, OVER AN HOUR AGO, PICK UP THESE PAPERS, AND PUT AWAY THE BOOKS YOU GOT OUT. THEN YOU CAN GO BACK TO YOUR CHECKERBOARD—AND PUT IT AWAY, TOO. IT'S YOUR BEDTIME!

TWO MOVES IN ONE

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

MR. HOBBS: WHY, I THINK HE'S A LITTLE BIT OF A BOY! I'VE GOT HIM OUT FOR A WALK WITH 'IM, BOB!

WELL, I DON'T THINK MUCH OF YOUR TASTE—HUM! THAT OLD FOSSIL!

WHAT DO YE MAKE OF IRA—SHOWIN' UP TH' WAY HE HAS, BOOTS?

OH, I THINK IT'S AWFULLY NICE—AN' I THINK YOU'RE NICE, TOO—T' TAKE SUCH AN INTEREST IN US ALL!

Easier Said Than Done!

WELL, NOW IT'S RIGHT DECENT OF YE 'T SAY THAT—DANGED IF IT AINT! BUT THEN, I NEVER KNOWED ANY OF YER FOLKS WHO WAREN'T OUN! THAT'S WHAT I CAN'T GET STRAIGHT ABOUT IRA—SKINNIN' OUT LIKE HE DID, AN' NOT WRITIN' US ARY A LETTER DURIN' ALL THESE YEARS!

OH, BUT YEE, HE'S BEEN BOTHERED WITH AMNESIA FOR A LONG, LONG TIME!

NO EXCUSE! HE SHOULD'VE GOT RID OF HER!

ALLEY OOP

WE'VE LOOKED OVER ALL TH' GROUND—AN' NOT A DINO CAN BE FOUND!

HERE ARE SOME DINOSAUR EGGS! MAYBE, IF WE BUILT A FIRE, WE COULD HATCH ONE OF 'EM!

WELL, THE TRIP WAS WORTH SOMETHIN'—I FOUND MY AXE!

THAT'S AN IDEA, DODD! WHAT D'YA SAY, FOOZY—SHALL WE TRY IT? IT WORKED ONCE, YA KNOW!

NOW! LET'S TAKE 'EM BACK TO MOO! WE CAN HATCH 'EM THERE! THAT OUGHTA DO—

Out of Clear Sky!

GIDDAP, DINNY! WE'RE GOIN' HOME!

HOORAY! AND AM I GLAD! LEAVIN' THIS PLACE DON'T MAKE ME MAD!

OH-OH! I KNEW THAT, AFTER A WHILE, WE'D RUN AFOUL A PTERODACTYL!

HOLD 'IM OFF, FOOZY! GIT GOIN', DINNY! GIT GOIN'!

WASH TUBBS

HEY, LISTEN, GAIL! WHY DON'T YOU COME WITH US?

SURE! THERE'S NO USE MINING WHEN IT'S 40 AND 60 BELOW.

BUT I—I LOVE ALASKA IN WINTER.

AW, FORGET IT. WHY, YOU'VE NEVER EVEN BEEN TO THE STATES.

SAY, WE'D SHOW YOU THE TIME OF YOUR LIFE.

I MIGHT AS FAR AS FAIRBANKS WITH YOU, AND REGISTER MY CLAIM.

Inducements!

THEY HAVE MOVIES IN FAIRBANKS. WE COULD GO TO A MOVIE EVERY NIGHT AND—

AW, RATS!

THINK OF IT, GAIL! SWELL CLOTHES. CLASSY CARS. SWIMMING IN SUNNY CALIFORNIA. ROOF GARDENS. DANCING. NIGHT CLUBS. OBOY! WOTTA TIME WE'D HAVE!

I'LL GO! I'LL DO IT! COME ON—LET'S START BEFORE I CHANGE MY MIND.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

DAG'S DAD IS HAVING A FEW WORDS WITH FUZZY DAVIS' FATHER... VERY FEW, IN FACT!!

AND IF I EVEN CATCH YOU WALKIN' DOWN THIS SIDE OF THE STREET, THERE'S GONNA BE A MERGER BETWEEN MY FIST AN' YOUR NOSE... TIE YOUR LEFT HAND TO YOUR RIGHT FOOT, SO YOU WON'T FORGET IT!!

OH! OH! POP OUGHTA KNOW ABOUT THAT!!

BLA-BLA BLAAA

NOW SCRAM—OR YA KNOW WHAT'LL HAPPEN!

HEY, POP! I JUST FOUND OUT SOMETHIN'... HE'S JUST A LITTLE GUY AN' HE'S STANDIN' ON A BOX!!

YOU BET I KNOW WHAT'LL HAPPEN! YOU'LL FIND OUT WHERE MY SON GOT HIS FIGHTING ABILITY.

WELL, THE HONOR OF THE FAMILY OF MCGOOSSEY HAS BEEN UPHELD... POP KINDA TOLD HIM THAT TIME!

Bad to Worse!

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

JIMMIE! WORTH MILLIONS!!

YES, THAT IS, IF HE'S THE MISSING SON OF JOHN BAXTER, AND THAT'S WHAT I CAME TO SEE YOU ABOUT

BUT HOW CAN YOU TELL THAT JIMMIE IS THE RIGHT CHILD?

I HAVE THIS TO PROVE IT

YES, AND I WANT TO GET A PRINT OF JIMMIE'S FOOT, AND THAT WILL SETTLE IT ONE WAY OR THE OTHER

SAY, THAT MUST HAVE BEEN WHAT GRIM WAS TRYING TO DO, WHEN HE GOT SMUDGY FINGERPRINTS ALL OVER JIMMIE'S SHEETS

SO THAT ACCOUNTS FOR THE OTHER FOOTPRINT—THERE WERE TWO, BUT ONE HAS BEEN MISSING

Fool Proof!
